information

Morecambe is now one of the beautiful and most popular holiday resorts in the west, once just a small fishing village but in recent years has benefited from over £50 million being invested into the community. The recently refurbished promenade spans for about 4 miles with fabulous views across Morecambe Bay towards the Lakeland Hills.

The flat promenade is perfect for a stroll taking in the sea breeze to view the now famous bronzed statue of Eric Morecambe which is an outstanding sculpture.

His statue near our hotel celebrates his life and work.

Another well known feature, which has recently come to life is the wonderful Art Deco building of the Midland Hotel, which has now been restored to its former glory. The town has wonderful gardens and offers great shopping facilities.
